Abide in the Wind Collapse

Long, long ago,

Dragons were revered and worshipped as gods.

They were complete beings that were above the world's law and were considered as a natural phenomenon that could not be changed.

A. maculatus?

—The corrupted
Dragon.

What?!

The Earth
Dragon, "Myrddin."

She left Musing and me in the labyrinth.

It seems she was
being held underground
by the humans.

Yes — I mean,
Ms. Munell?

As soon as the veil
became undone,
she reverted
to her original form to protect herself.

It's been eight years since

The Dragon that was fragmented into three

was exposed to so
many years of human
malice that

soon, it'll
become something
that can no longer
be called a Dragon

Before that happens,
we must reunite the
fragmented pieces to try and
preserve her existence.

In the empty
room next door.

I left it around here.

Where is it?
Where?

Thug's suspicions
were correct;

Madam Murgos
was being supported by the fountain all
the time

Oh-

That's
right?

Madam Mergat
instinctively decided to revert to her
true form to deliver
her surgery

If a creature that big moves around, it'll be quite destructive....

Alright, let's get off!

Where did Momagi go?

Momagi?

Lady Oshichi, won't he be back if we wait some time?

We're
approaching the end station.

as we stand
to find him before
he's arrested!

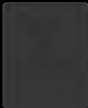

What? No
thank you for looking
after him—
